

Sending New Missionaries

A package of:

- ✓ practical resources & worksheets
 - ✓ two new workshops
- to help you build the sending capacity of local churches

Materials address the crucial period between new workers' appointment and departure for the field. These are great tools to help build strong ties between sending churches, appointees, and mission agency. Let's speed workers to the field undergirded with powerful church-missionary bonds!

Resource Package

Learn more about the 18-piece package of Sending New Missionaries materials. These resources give missions committees/GO teams practical "sending ideas" for themselves and the congregation. All can be customized to fit your specific agency/church.

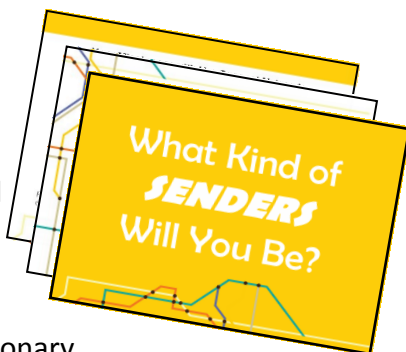

Workshop #1 — Sending New Missionaries: What Role Will You Play?

A 2½ hour session designed to be used with a missions committee/GO team. This practical, interactive workshop introduces the crucial tasks of the sending church in sharing the mission, getting new appointees ready for departure, and engaging the power of the "sending triangle." Includes extensive leader notes, PowerPoints, and interactive activities.

Workshop #2 — What Kind of Senders Will You Be?

A 45-minute session designed to be used with adult Sunday school classes, small groups, or the entire church. This presentation introduces missionary sending from a biblical perspective and how church members can get involved in sending and caring for new missionaries right from the very beginning. Includes complete leader notes, PowerPoints, and handouts.

Training Schedule

The half-day training will prepare you to use these new tools and assist your church or other congregations to proactively send new workers to the field.

The session runs three hours. More details and registration.
