

QUESTIONS FOR YOUR CHURCH'S MISSIONS LEADERSHIP TEAM

What could your leadership team do to help extend the impact of such conferences in the lives of your students and young adults? Here are some questions to discuss together:

- 1 Have we defined in writing a path we want people to follow who think they may be called to serve in a missions role and how we will walk this path with them? Some sample plans are attached to this earlier Postings.
- 2 Who from our church attended the conference? Some students may have gone with a group from their university. How can we find out which of our young adults were there? Do we have a cell number so we can text each of them?
- 3 Who will be in charge of our mission team's follow-up process? What assistance will this person need?
- 4 If our college/young adult ministry leaders have been involved in sending students, how will our follow-up process complement their efforts to do so and vice versa? Can we sit down with them to discuss our collaboration?
- 5 Could we organize a dinner/community-building event before students return to college?
- 6 Should we follow up one on one with some or all of these students? Is there a way to identify those ready for next steps toward missions, such as what Lake Avenue does (see description in main article)?
- 7 Are there ways to keep in touch with those who attended the conference, including those attending university outside our area? Should we consider something like Trinity's online community (see description above)? This will work best if the participants already have some relationship to each other.
- 8 How could we help build into the lives of young adults in our global partner churches as Trinity did?

QUESTIONS TO ASK ONE ON ONE

- 1 What were your expectations going into the conference? Were they fulfilled?
- 2 How was the conference different from what you anticipated?
- 3 What do you sense was the most important message God wanted you to receive at this conference? How are you planning to respond to that message? Be as specific as possible.
- 4 Did you visit missions agency booths while at the conference? If so, were you introduced to opportunities that interested you? Did important questions surface in these dialogs about your potential fit in one of these ministries?
- 5 Are you aware that our church's missions leadership team wants to walk with you in pursuing your place in God's global plan? (Explain some of the ways you can help, especially if they are interested in serving in a cross-cultural role.)
- 6 As part of your ongoing response to what God is saying to you, would you be willing to... (offer options for connection)?
